

United States Department of Agriculture,
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, D. C.

Feb. 20, 1896.

Mr. Herman Kretz,

Superintendent of the U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Some five months since, Director of the Mint Preston took from here a clay medallion of the Secretary of Agriculture which was to have been manufactured into a metallic medallion at the Mint in Philadelphia, after the medallion which was made there (some months previous) of Secretary Carlisle of the Treasury Department, Up to date nothing has been heard from it, and I am requested by the Secretary to ask you whether the work is in progress, and when it will be finished, if it is ?

Very respectfully yours,

John Nordhouse.
Private Secretary.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 192

United States Department of Agriculture,
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, D.C.,
February 20, 1896

Mr. Herman Kretz,
Superintendent of the U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Some five months since, Director of the Mint Preston took from here a clay medallion of the Secretary of Agriculture which was to have been manufactured into a metallic medallion at the Mint in Philadelphia, after the medallion which was made there (some months previous) of Secretary Carlisle of the Treasury Department. Up to date nothing has been heard from it, and I am requested by the Secretary to ask you whether the work is in progress, and when it will be finished, if it is?

Very respectfully yours,
John Nordhouse
Private Secretary.